

Identity Card Of Janos' Grandfather

This is a kind of identity card of my grandpa.

My grandfather [Lajos Feigenbaum] was born in Hajdudorog. Then he had a little tool workshop in Nagyváradi. He put together one of the first bicycles in Hungary there. He also installed the first telephone in Nagyváradi, in the Town Hall. My grandfather wasn't well-to-do. I've got a couple of cards from the front that he wrote my father when he sent him 50 crowns, 'send it back, because I've got such troubles'. My grandparents actually kept kosher. But my grandmother didn't wear a wig.
