

Judita Jovanovic's Portrait Of A Young Woman

This portrait was sent to the Biro family. On the back it says that it was sent by Elsa. I don't know who she is.

It is interesting to note that the picture was developed using a process of slow development which is not characteristic of commercial pictures, but rather of artistic photographs. The photo was taken in Vienna in 1914.